

gl.
Gappan Party Assoc.
2-15-32.

CONTENTS

OF THE

QUARTERLY CHRISTIAN SPECTATOR,

VOLUME IV.—1832.

No. I.

ART. I. Journal of Voyages and Travels, - - - - -	1
II. Farr on Revivals, - - - - -	25
III. Remains of the late Rev. Charles Wolfe, - - - - -	34
IV. Elements of Medical Logic, - - - - -	54
V. Dimmick's Sermon on the death of Mr. Amos Pettingell, - - - - -	69
VI. Assurance of their piety peculiarly the duty of christians at the present day, - - - - -	89
VII. Life of Sir Isaac Newton, - - - - -	109
VIII. Dr. Murdock's Translation of Mosheim's Ecclesiastical History, - - - - -	125
IX. Voluntary Associations, - - - - -	142
X. Letter of Rev. Dr. Taylor to Rev. Dr. Hawes, - - - - -	171

No. II.

ART. I. Reinhard's Plan, - - - - -	177
II. Journal of a Residence in Iceland, - - - - -	187
III. The Christian Ministry, - - - - -	207
IV. Hints designed to aid Christians in their efforts to convert men to God, - - - - -	229
✓ V. On Intercessory Prayer, - - - - -	251
VI. On the obstacles to Revivals of Religion, - - - - -	277
VII. On the Early History of Theology, - - - - -	291
VIII. The Free People of Color, - - - - -	311
IX. The perpetuity of the law of the Sabbath, or the General Sabbath Union defended, - - - - -	334

No. III.

ART. I. Character and Writings of Dr. Mason, - - -	345
II. Moral Influence of Manufactures, - - -	375
III. Causes which have impeded the spread of Christianity, - - - -	401
IV. Natural History of Enthusiasm and Saturday Evening, - - - -	418
V. Dickinson's Prize Letters, - - - -	439
VI. Dr. Tyler's Remarks and Dr. Taylor's Reply, - - -	456
VII. Douglas on Errors in Religion, - - - -	494
VIII. Notices of Recent Publications, - - - -	509

No. IV.

ART. I. On Religious Joy, - - - -	513
II. The Works of Lord Bacon, - - - -	528
III. Encouragement for the Religious Education of Children, - - - -	557
IV. Memoir of Rev. Sutherland Douglas, - - - -	567
V. The Rectory of Valehead, - - - -	598
VI. Divine Permission of Sin, - - - -	614
VII. Stuart on the Romans, - - - -	661

INDEX

TO THE FOURTH VOLUME
OF THE
QUARTERLY CHRISTIAN SPECTATOR.

---

ASSURANCE of their piety the duty of christians at the present day, 89. The nature of Assurance—the manner in which it is to be obtained; misapprehensions respecting the evidence on which it rests, motives for endeavoring to attain it, 91, 108.
Associations, voluntary, their uses and importance—Objectors exposed and their objections refuted, 142, 170.

Brewster, David, LL. D. F. R. S. his Life of Sir Isaac Newton, 109.
Bridges, Charles, B. A. The Christian Ministry, with an inquiry into the causes of its inefficiency, 207, 229.
Bacon, Lord, Works reviewed, 528.

Christian Assurance—nature of, 91, 93; manner of attaining it, 93, 97; misapprehensions concerning it, 97; motives for aiming at assurance; the spirit of the age favors and demands it, 105—109.
Christian Ministry—an inquiry into the cause of its inefficiency, 207, 229.
Colonization Society—Garrison's attack unfair and deceptive, 324, 334.
Christianity, the spread of it hindered by the want of systematic effort—by a belief in the salvability of the heathen without the preaching of the gospel; erroneous views as to the sovereignty of God; the prosperity of the church sometimes a hindrance; and the low standard of piety at heart, 402, 418.
Causes which have hindered the spread of the gospel, 402, 418.
Children, religious education of, 557.

Dimmick's Sermon on the death of Mr. Amos Pettingell, 69.
Dickinson's Prize Letters to Students. Students exposed to infidelity; to bad example; to the pride of intellect. Pious students should seek an elevated standard of christian character, and all should be brought and kept under the influence of religious instruction, and enjoy the means of attaining a knowledge of the evidences and doctrines of christianity, 439—456.
Douglas, James, on Errors in religion; all religion not founded in revelation reducible to polytheism and pantheism, 495, 505.
Durant's Memoirs, 557.
Douglas, Rev. Sutherland, Memoir of, 567.
Divine permission of sin, 614.

Early History of Theology, 291, 310.
 Enthusiasm, natural history of; the author's definition, 324; remarks on devotional enthusiasm and extracts, 425, 428. Saturday evening, extracts, 429, 438.
 Encouragement for the religious education of children, 557.

Farr on Revivals—see Revivals.

Garrison, Wm. Lloyd. His address to the free people of color; some things are good, some injudicious; his attack on the Colonization Society unjustifiable, 324, 332.

Henderson, Ebenezer, Doctor in Philosophy; his Journal of a residence in Iceland, 187.
 Hints designed to aid christians in their efforts to convert men, 229, 250.
 History, early, of Theology, 291, 310.
 Horn, John, his commentary on the Fathers; the points in which Augustine and Pelagius agreed; wherein they differed, 291, 310.
 Home—see Rectory of Valehead.

Isles in the Pacific which reject idolatry, 3; Pomare, the king of these islands, his character and conduct, 4, 14.
 Iceland; observations on natural phenomena; volcanoes; geysers, 188, 195; History, population, religion, education and literature, 195, 206.
 Intercessory prayer, 251; Prayer as taught in the scriptures; the qualities of prayer to avail much; conditions connected with promises in regard to prayer; the prayer of faith, 251, 277.

Joy, religious, 513.

Kent, Chancellor, his encomium of the Puritans, and of Rev. Thomas Hooker. the light of the western churches, and oracle of the Connecticut Colony, and of Rev. John Cotton, the father and glory of Boston, 211.

Lectures on Systematic Theology and Pulpit Eloquence, 509, 510.

Medical Logic, Elements of, 54: the mode of reasoning in medicine distinguished from the mode used in other branches of science—rules applicable to natural philosophy not applicable to medicine—never can examine or repeat exactly the same experiment—phenomena complex—theory and hypothesis—what, 54, 68.
 Murdock, James, D. D. his translation of Mosheim's Ecclesiastical History—appropriate and true to the original—extracts—the Arian controversy, 126, 142.
 MacLaine, his translation of Mosheim not true to the original, 135.
 Mosheim, his Institutes of Ecclesiastical History 125, 142.
 Münscher, Von Weihelm, his Dogmatic Theology, 291, 310.
 Mason, John M. D. D. his birth, education, ordination and settlement in the ministry, 346, 350: professor of the theological seminary, and provost of Columbia College—editor of the Christian Magazine—publishes his letters on frequent communion, essays, sermons, &c.—his health declines—his death, 353, 374.
 Manufactures, their influence on the social, the intellectual and the moral and religious character of the people of the United States, 383, 400.

New-Zealand, visit to, by Tyerman and Bennet, 14: description of the inhabitants—capture of the ship Boyd, 15.
 Newton, Sir Isaac, the Life of, 109: his birth, education and instructors, 110, 114: his invention of fluxions—the discovery of the composition of light—the principles of gravitation, 144: becomes Lucasian professor—fellow of the Royal Society—master warden of the mint, 115, 120, trinity, his opinion of the doctrine, 120, 123: private character and death, 124.

Obstacles to revivals of religion, 227, 290.

Pettingell, Mr. Amos, his birth, education, character, as scholar and christian, his death, 69, 89.
Puritans, their character—New-England—its early literature, 214, 215.
Prayer, intercessory, 251, 277.
Pelagius, his errors, 306, 310.
Prize Letters to Students, 439.

Revivals—the effects of revivals—the character of those who promote them and of those who oppose them, 25, 32.
Rheinhard, F. V. S. T. D. his treatise on the Plan of the Founder of Christianity, 178: Jesus Christ had a fixed design and plan, which show him to be an extraordinary person and a divine teacher sent from God, 178, 185.
Religion, revivals of, how hindered by religious controversy—by reviling ministers who are most successful in promoting them, 277, 280: revivals are sometimes hindered by the conduct of particular churches—by the character of former revivals, 284, 290.
Robbins, Hon. Asher, of Senate of U. S. his speech on manufactures, 375.
Rectory of Valehead, reviewed, 598.
Romans, Stuart on, review of, 661.
Religious joy, 513.

Skinner, Dr. of Philadelphia, and president Beecher of Illinois College; their hints designed to aid christians, 229: the work, its plan and object, 231: doctrines inculcated, 234, 242: cautions—directions for christians, 242, 250.
Sabbath, not a peculiarity of the Jewish religion—nor abolished by the introduction of christianity—a law coeval with man and of perpetual observance—the day was changed, but the ordinance continues, 333, 344.
Saturday Evening—extracts, 429, 438.
Sin, divine permission of, 614.
Stuart on the Romans, review of, 661.

Tyerman, Rev. Daniel, and George Bennet Esq.—their Journal of Voyages and Travels, 1: as missionaries they visit the isles of the Pacific and the Indies, 1, 24.
Taylor, Rev. Dr's. Letter to Rev. Dr. Hawes, 171.
Taylor, O. A. his translation of Reinhard, 178.
Tyler, Rev. Bennet, D. D. his Remarks—his theory of human depravity—it runs in the blood and is propagated, 458, 464: divine permission of sin—sin is the necessary means of the greatest good, 465, 493.
Thomson, Andrew, his sermons and sacramental exhortations, 510.

Voluntary Associations, their nature and uses; by the blessing of God the origin and source of almost all the good derived from missions; and missionary and other benevolent societies throughout the world; the cavils of objectors, whether infidel or christian, are exposed and refuted, 142, 170.

Union of Literature and Religion; Cowper, Heber, Charles Wolfe, 46, 53.

Wolfe, Rev. Charles, Remains of; his early education, ordination, scientific and literary character, his death, 34, 40; Extracts in poetry, 40, 42; from his sermons, 42, 46.
Webster, Noah, LL. D. his history of the United States, 512.

